A train operating company says it will be running Halloween-themed services to celebrate the spooky day.

Southeastern will run a special “ghost train” between London Charing Cross and Pluckley in Kent, which is claimed to be the most haunted place in the UK.

The service, called Trainsylvania will leave London Charing Cross at 10:34 GMT on Thursday and call at Waterloo East, London Bridge, Sevenoaks, Tonbridge, Paddock Wood, Marden, Staplehurst and Headcorn and Pluckley.

The return journey leaves Pluckley at 14:36 and arrives back at Charing Cross at 15:54, Southeastern said.

Southeastern says games available on the train are designed for travellers of all ages and will keep everyone “entertrained”.

Passengers who participate in the games will be allowed to take them home.

Matt Hawken, Area Manager at Southeastern, added: “We’re thrilled to offer our customers a unique and thrilling experience this Halloween with our ghost train to Pluckley.

“It’s a fantastic opportunity to collaborate with games companies and enjoy some spooky games and create unforgettable memories.

“We can’t wait to see everyone in their Halloween best.”
